VOL. XXI.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 26, 1889.

PRICE FIVE CENTS

THE TARIFF BILL IS NOW IN THE HANDS OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE.

ITS PROBABLE FATE SPECULATED UPON Mr. Randall Will Not Report His Own Bill

as a Substitute, But Will Call For Cancus Directions

Washington, January 25.—[Special.]—The senate substitute for the Mills bill reached the house today. It now lies upon the speaker's table, but will be referred to the ways and means committee either tomorrow or Monday. The members of that committee have not yet decided what they will do with the bill. There are two things open to them—one to bring in a substitute, the other to smother the bill in the committee room. If it is seen that they are to adopt the latter course, then the men who favor the Cowles bill will make an effort to get it out of the appropriation committee,
AND PASS IT AT ONCE.

But within the last day or two a new scheme has been developed. As it is, the republican has been developed. As it is, the fepublican members of the appropriations committee will oppose the reporting of the Cowles tobacco bill back to the house, for they believe that such a course on their part would bring them none of the credit of relieving the people of this burden, but would merely assist the democrats in keeping their hold on Virginia and North Carolina. Mr. Randall has been all the time opposed to reporting upon it by appropriations committee, for he fears that should he favor reporting the bill back to the house, he would lay himself open to the charges of antagonism to Mr. Mills and the way and means committee. Mr. Randall does not desire to be replaced in that position, and is, therefore, pleased with the decision of the republican members of his committee. He wants to leave reform to the committee on ways and means, where it properly belongs, but he does believe that the gentlemen of that committee should take some action upon the senate tariff bill at once. He thinks the democratic party should do all in their power to enact tariff legislation of some kind during this session of congress, and therefore get the credit before the country of revising the tariff and relieving the people of the burdens they are now undergoing. There is a report out that Mr. Randall is to offer the tariff bill which he prepared at the last session as a substitute to the report of the ways and means committee, in case they make one on the senate bill, whether that report be merely in favor of non-concurrence, or in the shape of a substitute. There is, however, no truth in this report, for Mr. Randall is

NOT INCLINED TO ANTAGONIZE the ways and means committee or to do anything that would widen the breach which now exists between the two factions of the democratic party in the house of representatives. He will favor a caucus of the party in regard to what the house shall do with the senate tariff bill, and will probably advise that the house non-concur in the senate amendment, and send the bill to a conference committee with instructions on the part of the house that if it is possible to reach any sort of a fair compromise to accept it. This will probably be the outcome.

A Disgraceful Fisticust Over the Results of the War.

Washington, January 25.— [Special.]—
There was a very lively knock down and drag out fight in the Congressional hotel bar yesterday afternoon, between Congressmen Crain, of Texas, and Barry, of Mississippi. The fisticust grew out of a discussion about the war. Both men were friends, and had they been there would probably have been so difficulty. Rumors of a duel were rife this morning but the friends of the parties have interferred and tonight they say the matter will be amicably adjusted. Mr. Barry received quite a severe blow in the eye, which gave that organ a very black appearance today, consequently he did not show up at the capitol. Mr. Crain was there, however. Mr. Barry, it seems

RUSHING BUSINESS THROUGH.

The Senate Knuckling Down to Work-Bills Passed Yesterday. Washington, January 25.—Mr. Hale, from the appropriations committee, reported the consular and diplomatic appropriation bill, and said that he would call it up early next week. Mr. Allison moved that the senate insist on its amendment to the tariff bill and ask for a conference with the house on the bill and amendment.

The motion was agreed to without objection.

Bills were passed providing for a new light-ship at Sandy Hook, mouth of New York harbor, and to increase the maximum amount harbor, and to increase to one hundred of international money orders to one hundred dollars.

The military academy appropriation bill was then taken up, amended and passed.
On motion of Mr. Hoar, the vote by which, on Wednesday last, the bill for the relief of the Louisiana State National bank was passed was reconsidered and the bill recommitted to the committee on claims, Mr. Hoar explaining that the chairman of the committee had learned at the treasury department facts that ought to be presented to the committee and the senate. The senate then proceeded to the consideration of the bill reported from the finance committee, to declare unlawful trusts and combinations in restraint of trade and production. The first section was amended by making it apply also to goods transported into or from the District of Columbia.

Mr. Hoar offered an amendment to come in as an additional section. It provides that if one of the purposes of such combinations shall be to compel any person or partnership or corporation to become a party to it, or to cease from doing any lawful business, or to sell or dispose of any lawful business, such person.partnership or company may sue for, and recover damages; also that any purchaser who has (on account of such combinations) to pay an increased price for the article purchased, may

Mr. Platt offered an amendment making the law apply whether the principal of the trust resides in the United States or in a foreign country; and Mr. Stewart offered as an amendment his cold and silver certificate. ment his gold and silver certificates bill.

The bill as amended was ordered printed as well as the pending amendment.

The District of Columbia appropriation bill was taken up. Mr. Vest's amendment, requiring street railroad tracks of the city to be relaid with flat, grooved rails and made level with the roadway. So that no obstructions should be presented to vehicles, was adopted. Mr. Edmunds offered an amendment for the establishment of a zoological park, on Rock creek, and appropriating $200,000 for the purpose.

Pose.
The amendment was agreed to, and the bill passed. A conference was asked, and Messrs. Flumb, Dawes and Cockrell were appointed conferees on part of the senate.
The following bills were taken up and passed:
For the relief of the Protestant Episcopal theological seminary and high school in Vir ginia, (Senate bill.)

To regulate the judiciary of the United States district judges and courts in Alabama. (House district judges and courts in Alabama. (House bill.)

To make the salary of the supervising surgeon general of the marine hospital service the same as that of surgeon general of the army. (Senate bill.)

To transfer certain counties from the southern judicial district to the northern district in the state of Georgia and to divide the northern district in said state into two, to be known as the western and eastern divisions of said district, and for other purposes. (House bill.)

The senate then proceeded to the consideration of private pension bills on the calendar. Among thirty bills passed was one (senate bill) increasing the pension of the widow of General Rousseau to $100 a month.

After a brief session for executive business the senate, at 4:45, adjourned till Monday.

THEY ARE ALL WALKING NOW.

Fat Men in Public Life at Washington Afraid of Death.

Washington, January 25.—[Special.]—
The recent death of Congressman Burnes, of Missouri, which has been attributed to corpulency, due to neglect to take sufficient exercise, has had the effect of frightening all the coipulent congressmen considerably. The big men have discussed little else for the last day or two, and each and every one of them are now taking short walks daily.

For instance, before the death of Mr. Burnes, Major Barnes, who is the largest man in congress, seldom walked at all. He, however, now walks down to the capitol each morning and takes a short stroll in the afternoon. Mr. Baker, of New York, the next largest man, does likewise, also Senator Reagan, of Texas; Sayer, of Wisconsin; Culbertson, of Texas, and many others.

Even President Cloveland is frightened, and was out for a walk both yesterday and this afternoon, and it is said at the white house that he will continue to take a long walk every afternoon.

The Contract Awarded for Building of the Structure.

Washington, January 25.—[Special.]—The contract for adding a story to the Atlanta customhouse and improving the interior of the building, was today awarded to Thomas & Driscell, of this city, for $104,500. They agree to complete the work in twenty months. Messrs. McCarthy & Baldwin agreed to do the same work in ten months for $94,000. Their bid was to raise the roof and add in a story without disturbing the occupants of the building, and to give a $250,000 bond for faithful discharge of contract, but Jüdge Stewart feared a Georgia cyclone would come along and blow a Georgia cyclone would come along and blow the roof away, and therefore the two senators recommended that the contract be given as above noted.

The appropriation for repairs of lighthouses was increased $35,000; for salaries of lighthouse keepers, $25,000, and for the pay of custodians and janitors of public buildings, $30,000.

Pending action, the committee rose, and the house at 4:15, took a rocess until 7:30, the evening session to be for the consideration of private pension bills.

At its evening session "the house passed twenty private pension bills, and at 10 o'clock adjourned until to-morrow.

A STRANGE INDORSEMENT

Put Upon the Senate Tariff Substitute-What Will the Heuse Do?

What Will the House Do?

Washington, January 25.— Before the tariff bill went to the house from the senate this afternoon there was indorsed on it, in compliance with the motion of Mr. Allison, adopted by the senate, the statement that the senate adhere to its amendments and requests a conference.

This is an unusual, but not unprecedented course to pursue, and is adopted for the pur-pose of expediting the consideration of the bill. This action of the senate caused a mild commotion among the interested members of house when it was made known to them. The impression in some quarters was that the senate has very cleverly trapped the ways and senate has very cleverly trapped the ways and means committee. It would be out of the ordinary course for the house to refuse to accede to the request of the senate for a conference, yet if this request is granted the result will be to prevent the ways and means committee from passing upon the senate amendments to the tariff bill. Again, it is argued that if the house should refuse to comply, this refusal would put it in the position of declining to second the efforts of the senate to secure a speedy action upon the tariff bill.

Several members of the ways and means committee when spoken to about the matter, expressed the belief that the request for a conference would not be granted until the bill had gone through the regular course in the house and committee.

Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky, said that the rules of the house require all bills coming back with senate amendments to be referred to the proper committee. The tariff bill could not be sent to conference in violation of this rule, for a single objection would suffice to prevent it. He agreed with other members of the committee in the opinion that the senate's request for an immediate conference would be refused.

A YEAR OF LEGISLATION PROMISED

The Republicans Anxions to Take Charge of Affairs at the Earliest Possible Momont-The Schemes Ahead.

Washington, January 25 .- [Special.]-Extra session talk has been revived, and it is safe to say that evey republican member of the house of representatives is in favor of an April said Representative Burrows, of Michigan, to-day. Mr. Burrows is a candidate for the speak-

"To postpone the meeting of the 51st congress until December will make a physical impossibility to accomplish the legislation which the country will need before the cam-paign of 1889. The republican party

MUST MEET THE EXIGENCIES of the people. It has promised to legislate for the soldier, revise the tariff and pass some kind of an election law which will give us freedom and security of election throughout the country. I shall tell President-elect Harrison that not to have an extra session will be to gamble with fate and court defeat. The taking of the census and the demands of the territories for admittance, together with the settlement of thirty or more contested election cases, must all be provided for; and, without an extra session, it will be impossible to do it before the beginning of the congressional campaign. If we do not meet until December, the result will be that we will go into the battle with our promises unredeemed and subject to the just criticism of the people. To avoid this exigency I think that there is no question but that we ought to have

AN EXTRA SESSION IN APRIL to settle the most flagrant election cases and appoint a committee on territories, and admit, at the earliest possible moment, all the territories fit for admission. We should organize a committee on ways and means, and instruct it to proceed at once to the considera-tion of the tariff, and be pre-pared at the adjourned session in October, or at the regular session in Decem-ber, to present a bill which can be passed with-out delay. If we do this, we will accomplish what the country expects. It is a national necessity."

what the country expects. It is a national necessity."

THE DEMOCRATS DON'T WANT IT.

The democratic members of the house are all opposed to an extra session, as they are not desirous of remaining in Washington when they could be at home attending to their business, making outside money. However, if the democrats were to be in the majority, it probably would be different.

ROYALTY ON PLATE PRINTING.

The Patentee of the Press Can Take What the Government Offers or Move Out.

Washington, January 25.—Mr. Townshend, of Illinois, from the committee on military affairs, reported the army appropriation bill and it was placed upon the calendar.

Also a bill to establish a national military and naval museum in the city of Washington. Referred to committee of the whole.

The house then went into committee of the whole, (Mr. Dockery, of Missouri, in the chair) on the sundry civil appropriation bill.

The pending paragraph was that providing that the royalty paid for the use of steam plate presses, in the bureau of engraving and printing shall be I cent per thousand impressions.

The amendment offered by Mr. White, of New York, fixing the royalty at one dollar, (the royalty paid under the existing contract) was defeated without division.

The amendment offered by Mr. Long, of Massachusetts, fixing a royalty at fifty cents per thousand impressions was lost—81 to 85.

The amendment offered by Mr. Farquhar, of New York, providing that no part of the appropriations committee do not report a measure of relief for the tobacco tax, and the delegation, which leaves for home today, go away under the conviction that if the ways and means committee do not report a measure of relief for the tobacco tax, and the delegation for Virginia, was at the capitot today, in company with the delegation of Virginia farmers and tobacco growers, sent here to further the passage of Mr. Cowles's internal revenue bill. INDIANAPOLIS, January 25.—General Harrison is looking better than for some days past, but the wear of the constant reception of visitors is beginning to tell on him. Train Wreckers in Kansas.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., January 25.—An attempt was made at 111 o'clock last night to wreck a Colorado, Utah and Pacific passenger train on the Union Pacific, near Wilson, Ark. A large lot of heavy timber and boards had been piled upon the track, part of which was knocked off by the engine and the remainder run over by the train. The spot selected was where the track runs on a high embankment, and had the train left the rails there must have been a fearful loss of life. No reconstruction of the would-be wreckers.

Moore Supposed to Have Stolen From All His Companies.

Indianapolis, January 25.—Joseph A. Moore, defaulting insurance agent, has not yet been arrested and no criminal proceedings have been begun against him. He is resting in seclusion in the city and positively refuses to see anybody or say anything for publication about his treables. W. G. Abbott, vice-president of the Connecticut Mutual company, is here with a professional accountant, and it was through their efforts that Moore's discrepancy was made public. It is thought the defalcation will be considerably in excess of $500,000. He was also agent for the German-American Fireman's Fund, City of London, and Imperial of London, insurance companies, and is supposed to be short in his accounts with them. Nothing definite is known about this, however.

this, however. this, however.

A reporter today succeeded in obtaining an interview with Defaulter Moore, who is at present closely confining himself to his residence in the city. He talked with considerable freedom, denying rumors that the depositors in his bank would suffer.

Moore stated that he had turned over to the Connection Musual property worth week.

Connecticut Mutual property worth two hundred thousand dollars. When asked if he knew what course the officers of the insurance company would pursue, he said:

"I have no dea of their plans. I am simply withing the descent of the company would be a company within the company wit

"I have nodes of their plans. I am simply waiting for developments, and am entirely in their hands. I want it understood that I have remained here to face the consequence of my acts of my own accord. When I was informed that Mr. Ab bott, secretary of the company, was coming to investigate my affairs, I had plenty of time to leave the country and save myself completely. I decided to stay right here, and when Mr. Abbott arrived I told him the whole truth about the coxdition of my business. I told him that I proposed to remain here. I told him that I proposed him that I would not commit suicide either, so here I am waiting for anything that may come."

Moore states that his troubles dated back to 1880. "In 1890," said he, "a law was passed prohibiting foreign corporatons from bringing suit in the federal court. That destroyed my business. For two or three years I did nothing at all and became very despondent. Just before that, a short time, I had gone into bankruptcy and an intimate friend who had indorsed my paper had gone into bankruptey and an intimate friend who had indorsed my paper was a heavy loser. I always considered that I was in honor bound to repay him, and it was in an attempt to do this that my present troubles really began. I had no business, and yet had heavy running expenses, and at the same time was striving to repay my friend money he had lost by me. I had loaned great sums of money for the company I represented, taking real estate security. After the panic borrowers were unable to pay off mortgages and property, and they fell back into our hands. It had depreciated greatly in value and was run down in very bad repair. I felt myself more or less at fault in having placed loans so badly, though in reality I did the best I could. I was extremely sensitive on this point. I saw the company losing thousands of dollars on investments that had been made on my judgment. All these things piled upon me, and as time passed on became more and more burdensome. Many a time I felt as though I should lose my mind. I was beset on every side and foit bound to do something to relieve myself, and yet there was nothing I could do. had gone into bankruptcy and an intimate friend who had indorsed my paper should lose my mind. I was beset on every side and felt bound to do something to relieve myself, and yet there was nothing I could do.

"At this point I went to New York and began to speculate in stocks. I had fair success, too, and made some money, but whenever I came back here I lost my head and everything went wrong."

Moore declined to say how much he had lost in stock speculation. It is obvious that his irregularities with the company has existed for years; pet nothing has been done on the part of the company until the first of January this year. It is the current report that Colonel Green himself (president of the company), has known for more than a year that Moore was embarrassed, if not a defaulter, and it is asserted (though the secretary of the company denies that statement) that the vice-president of the company, John M. Taylor, asserted to the other general officers of the company years ago that Moore's accounts could not be right and that something was radically wrong. It is believed by those that the defalcations amounted to half a million two or three years ago and that now, together with shortages in other departments of his business, they will reach three-quarters of a million, if not more. Secretary Abbott, however, today expressed his belief that the defalcation would not exceed half a million. went wrong."

The death watch did not go on until after midnight. Up to that time two colored ministers and a number of newspaper reporters were with him and no watch was deemed necessary. He continued his swhiging restless walk, except when engaged in prayer, until the visitors went away and the death watch came on. Then he dropped upon his blankets, and burying his face in them began sobbing bitterly. For a minute or two he remained upon the floor, and then springing to his feet began walking again. Two or three times he passed up and down his cage, and then approaching the guard, who was just outside the bars said:

that he had made his peace with his maker, but rather the prayer of a man who feared that his sins had not been forgiven. The prayer over, the negro dropped upon his blackets and in a few minutes was asleep. His sleep was not a deep one. He rolled and tossed about in the most restless manner, all the time muttering something tossed about in the most restless man-ner, all the time muttering something which no one could understand. Just after 5 o'clock he awoke, and then, dropping upon his knees, engaged in prayer. Then he arose and resumed his walk. As he walked he began singing. His voice was steady and good, and for a few minutes the jail walls echoed with "IFSUS LOVER OF MY SOUL."

"JESUS LOVER OF MY SOUL."

He kept his walk up until day hegan to dawn. Immediately in front of his cell is a window, and as the first rays of light entered Frey braced himself against his cage, and rivetting his eyes upon the window, remained perfectly still until the night was antirely gone. It was misting, and Frey entirely gone. It was misting, and Frey turned to the death watch, saying:

Frey slowly unbuttoned his coat, and drawing it off hung it upon a peg on the wall of his cell. He was as careful and deliberate about it as if he expected to use it again. Then he unbuttoned his vest and drawing it off, hung it beside the coat. During this time Sheriff McClain opened the bundle, revealing a white shirt. Frey removed his shirt and with a hand which began to shake the least bit took the new shirt and began putting it on the tried to button his collar, but his HAND HAD BECOME VERY UNSTEADY and the sheriff did it for him. When the condemned man was dressed the ministers advanced. The Rev. Smith read the 10th chapter of Romans, and then he and the Rev. Butler and the prisoner sang:

"Won't You Come to Jesus and Be Saved?"

Then the Rev. Smith prayed, the prisoner kneeling just in front of him. The prayer way a strong one. He prayed for strength for the prisoner. He prayed for all present. The prayer was short, and when it was over the sheriff produced a pair of handcuffs and started towards Frey, who advanced to meet him with both hands extended. Dr. Reynolds noted the prisoner's pulse. It was 90. The cuffs were clasped around the wrist and a heavy cord was passed through his arms and tied behind. At 10:45 the sheriff walked out of the cell with Frey behind him and Pink Stephens behind Frey. As he passed out the cell door some one put a cigar in his mouth. The undertaker then mounted the box and, as he was in the act of moving off, Frey said:

The so-called "organized," of the seventh have been for the past few years in a peculiar situation. Mr. Clements was never very strong with the democratic leaders, but when Dr. Felton, as an independent democrat, repeatedly defeated the nominee, they made one grand effort and defeated him with Mr. Clements. After succeeding in getting the doctor out of the way, they found that Mr. Clements had entirely forgotten certain campaign pro-fessions, and one and even two terms failed to

Fort Valley Surrounded by Illicit Whisky Shops-The Tiger Bold and the People Tired of Him-A Suggestive Subject. FORT VALLEY, Ga., January 25 - [Special.] Among the first counties in Georgia to adopt prohibition was this (Houston) county, the election being called by a special act of the legislature and carried for prohibition with schemes concocted by some of our best people, who thought prohibition would be the salva-tion of the county and county towns, especially the rising generation. Their surmises have proven erroneous in every sense of the word, and many staunch prohibitionists of town now express themselves publicly

IN FAVOR OF THE SALE of whisky, from the very fact that prohibition has proven a failure and farce in Houston county. So far as Fort Valley is concerned, the vile stuff is sold here in quantities and a man can find a drink of whisky for sale much easier than he can a pound country butter. Jug after jug is brought in here daily and peddled out, but it seems a hard matter to make a case against any of the many violators who have been plying this vocation for a livelihood ever since prohibition went into effect six years ago. Houston was not carried for prohibition under the local ontion law, but by a pecial act of the legislature, and before an election can be called again on the question, t will require a petition of two-thirds the free holders of the county to the legislature, praying for a repeal of the present special act, and thus put Houston under the general local option law,

THE REPEAL ADVOCATED.

Many of our best people advocate this step, and the attempt will be made to secure the requisite number of names to the petition, which, if successful, will be presentde to the legislature at the adjourned term. Many citizens who are in a position to know, think it will be an easy matter to get the matter legally before the adjourned term, and that whisky will be legally sold here before April, 1890, thus bringing in some revenue to the town and county, and breaking up a gang of people who make their living running a "blind tiger."

As it has been a stranger in these parts for a long time the sale drew a large crowd. The sheriif offered it by the gallon, and a fellow would ffered it by the gallon, and a fellow would and so much and then only take one gallon. The prohibitionists say they are going to lay the matter before the grand jury, and prosecute the matter to the bitter end, and see if there is any law wherein whisky can be disposed of under any pretense.

ELLAVILLE, Ga., January 25.—[Special.]—
The weather was threatening this morning Heavy clouds hung over the village. It was remarked that it was just such weather when Stonewall Tondee was killed. A special train left Americus at 7 o'clock with Blackman and the gnards, and arrived here at 8. Blackman was immediately carried to the jail, and there THE CONSTITUTION reporter saw him and

"Charley, I represent THE CONSTITUTION and if you have any statement to make I will have it published."

"I have no statement to make except that I am an innocent man and know nothing about Mr. Tondee being killed. I know that I have got to die, but I am innocent."
"How was it, Charlie, that suspicion rested on you, and where did you go the night Mr. Tondee was murdered?" "I left Americus about three-quarters of an hour by sun, and arrived home about nine o'clock at night. No one in Ellaville saw me

Rev. H. Scarbrough and Rev. Charles

Spivey, colored, also visited him at the jail. His brother, Richard, also visited him, and told him the negroes had refused to let his body be buried at the church, but he would take the body and bury it in his own yard. The sheriff then came in and read the death warrant and also the order of Governor Gordon ordering the execution to take place. He was then lead down the steps and put on his coffin, which was in a dray, and carried to the gallows. As the crowds had been pouring in from early morning, fully five thousand people were present to witness the execution. Ropes were stretched around the gallows and none but guards, reporters and physicians were allowed inside.

No THE SCAFFOLD.

I die today an innocent man, I soon make my departure to a land where no sorrow can reach me. My lawyers have done all they could, and, if it is according to the will of God, I am willing to go."

His pulse was 120. Rev. Charles Spivey then offered a fervent prayer, and then the prisoner's arms were pinioned and the rope adjusted, also the black cap, and he was told if he wished to say anything to do so. He said:

BLACKMAN SUSPECTED.

Suspicion pointed to Charles Blackman, as he was known to be a jealous fool about the wife of another negro named John Black. The tracks were followed that night for one mile when they were lost in a piece of woods. At ten minutes the doctors could detect no heart or pulse.

At fourteen minutes he began to get cold.
At sixteen minutes the doctors pronounced him dead and he was cut down.

He had been in the air about twenty minutes.

As he was taken down Undertaker Henders we become him the colfin. The doctors even the colfin to the co arrived in town with the prisoner the coroner's jury was in session over the body of Mr. Tondee. Blackman denied all knowledge of the crime and stated that he slept in Sumter county about ten miles from here. He never showed the least indication of guilt until he was carried to where Mr. Tondee was laying and when the cloth was removed from Mr. Tondee's face Blackman trembled like an aspen leaf but would not look at him. Persuasion and threats were alike unavailing.

Mathews and B. H. Wilkinson to represent the defendant. The state was represented by Solicitor General C. B. Hudson, W. A. Hawkins, W. H. McCrary and Edgar G. Simmons. On Thursday the defendant was placed on trial. His counsel moved for a continuance because they had not had time to prepare the defense and because of public opinion. Judge Fort overruled the motion and after a two days 'trial the jury found him guilty of murder. The case was carried to the supreme court and the judgment was again placed on trial in September, 1886, and again found guilty. His case was again carried to the supreme court and the judgment was again set aside and a new trial ordered. Blackman was again placed on trial in March, 1888, and found guilty of murder, and his case was again carried to the supreme court. Blackman was again placed on trial in March, 1888, and found guilty of murder, and his case was again carried to the supreme court. Blackman was agli this time in the Americus jail for sale keeping. When last summer the sheriff received altelegram announcing Blackman's escape from jail, the indignation and excitement it caused was intense. Large rewards were offered by Schley and Sumter counties, and in about ten days Blackman was captured in Stewart county just as he was crossing the river into Alabama. He made his escape just after he learned the supreme court had affirmed the decision of the superior court. He had been sentenced at each conviction to hang and when he was again sentenced at the last September court to hang 19th October, people had been sentenced at each conviction to hang and when he was again sentenced at the last September court to hang 19th October, people did not believe he would hang as he had escaped so often before. Governor Gordon was appealed to and he granted a respite for sixty days, and before the sixty days were out, granted another respite indefinitely, and people had concluded that justice was asleep. But the law, ever reliable, must and shall be vindicated, and Blackman paid the penalty for themost dastardly murder ever perpetrated on today. Blackman was not worth ten cents, but he has cost this county over five thousand dollars to ascertain if he was guilty of murder under the forms of law.

ON THE SCAFFOLD.

Blackman was carried upon the scaffold, and he then asked that prayer be made. Rev. Charlie Spivey was called for, and said:
"All join in singing 'And Am I Born to Die?"

After the singing he bid farewell to his relatives, and was told if he had anything to say he could do so, He stood up, and in a clear voice said:
"Well, fellow-men, this is my last opportunity that you will ever hear my voice again in this lowland of sin and sorrow. He said:

The trigger was then sprung, and Blackman was launched into eternity. He made several convulsive jerks and then became still. Drs. Smith and Cheney pronounced him dead in ten minutes, and his body was cut down after hanging fifteen minutes.

Up to the last moment the people were fearful that Governor Gordon would either commute the prisoner's punishment, or give him another respite. In order that he might not be successful unknown parties cut the telegraph wires, and thus cut Ellaville off from communication with the world. Your correspondent, therefore, in order to fulfill his mission for The Constitution, had to make the distance by horseback from Ellaville to Americus, where this message is committed to the consumption for the captal wires and thus que, muscular, of ginger cake color and his eyes were never for one moment still. ATLANTA, GA, JANUARY 26, 1889.

The Physical Culture Craze. A thoughtful writer remarks that the growing interest in prize fights is one of the results of the physical culture business.

Doubtless there is some truth in this statement. We are disposed to overdo everything. For many years intellectual culture was the one thing that engaged public attention. Athletic sports fell in disrepute, and book-lore was considered more valuable than a good constitution. The reaction did not come too early, but it shows signs of going too far.

Already it is evident that Sullivan is a bigger man in the eyes of the masses than Edison, the inventor. The man who walks, runs, rows, jumps or shoots better than any of his competitors is the popular

The development of muscle is well enough, but there is such a thing as having too much of it. The strongest and most skillful athletes do not enjoy as good health or live as long as the men who cultivate their minds more and their bodies less.

All this can be said without underrating the importance of physical culture. The point is that when any kind of culture becomes a craze other things equally important are neglected.

According to the New York Times, Edward James, of the Hope Iron and Tin Plate company, of Tipton, England, says that five hundred thousand pounds sterling have been contributed by English tin-plate manufacturers and merchants to defeat the clause in the senate bill increasing the tariff on tin plate. He says that the duty will kill the tin-plate industry in England and open it up in this country.

What's the Matter With the Malls? Constant complaint is being made to THE Constitution of irregularity in the mail service by which the paper fails to reach its subscribers on time.

These complaints come from all parts of the state, and are becoming so general that we take this method of referring the matter to the superintendent of the mail service, with the request that something be done to remedy the fault.

We are confident that THE CONSTITUTION Is sent regularly each morning, in due time, to the postoffice, or to the mail trains, as the case may be, and beyond that we are not responsible for any delay or carelessness by which our subscribers are deprived of their papers for a day or more. We do not know who is at fault, but we are certain that the mail service is not as thorough as it should be. The postal clerks may be to blame, or the postmasters may be responsible for the existing irregularity. We do not desire to do either an injustice, and will be glad to state that neither are at fault If they will satisfy us to that effect.

Other papers are making the same con plaint of delay, and we are satisfied that the superintendent of the mail service will receive the thanks of the entire press of the state if he so systematizes the service as to Insure subscribers receiving their papers without provoking unnecessary delay.

We have confidence in the ability and good intention of the superintendent of the mali service, and look to him with a feeling of certainty that the evils complained of will be remedied.

THE Press-Register, of Newark, N. J., says that Pecksniff Shepard, of the New York Mule in Distress, is a fit inmate for ise or the jail. The northern papers are getting so they tell the truth right along.

A St. Louis Idea.

Although the fiftieth congress has not yet disappeared from view, Editor Jones, of the St. Louis Republic, a paper that is also edited by the Knapp family, is moved to bid it adieu in terms at once affectionate and vivid-to use a western phrase that means nothing. Editor Jones and Knapp, reviewing the general result, remark that the fiftieth congress will turn out to be a very fine affair indeed, if Mr. Randall doesn't prove to be a traitor. Still, the outlook is not at all hopeful, for, according to the Jones-Knapp theory, Mr. Randall has already, on several occasions, proven to be a doubly-dyed traitor. What, then, is to be done? Well, here the Jones Knapp theory again comes into play. The Mills bill is deader than a door-nail, but the country must stand by it. It cannot be passed, but we must live up to it. It was a makeshift, even according to Brer Watterson, and yet the democratic party must bow down to it as a sort of fetisch. "There must be no vacillation," according to Knapp-Jones, or Jones-Knapp. We must stand right square up to the rack, fodder or no fodder. There is no democratic party outside of the Mills bill, and as there is precious little inside of it, we are left to infer that Jones-Knapp, or Knapp-Jones, have the entire affair in a swing.

We observe, however, that while the democratic party, according to the Knapp-Jones theory, must stand still and do noth-ing, the republican party is expected to seize hold of things and work various reforms. According to Knapp-Jones, the internal revenue is an affair sacred to democracy. It must not be touched. The democratic party is responsible for its existence and the democratic party must uphold it. There is nothing more truly dem ocratic, according to the Jones-Knapp theory, than the infamous excise system, and every democratic voter is bound to support it to the end of time, and yet the Jones-Knapp theory confuses itself in this

In the next congress the entire question will be considered from a standpoint, and it will be time then to consider such changes as may be necessary in democratic plans for lower import taxes. If the republicans abolish or virtually abolish the internal revenue system, the question will be much less complicated. The issue between a revenue tariff and a prohibitive protective tariff will be presented with no side issues to complicate it, and it will certainly be no harder, if it is no easier, for the people to get at its merits.

people to get at its merits. That is to say, the internal revenue infamy cannot be touched by democrats, because it is a democratic affair and sacred, but if the republicans choose to repeal the system, or any part of it, "the question will Infamy will be a good thing, not only for the whole country, but for the democratic programme. This is the truth, and it is so simple that a wayfaring man, though he be a fool, can see it. Abolish the internal revenue system, and reform of the tariff will follow, not only as a matter of course, but | as a necessity.

SECRETARY BAYARD represents the people. Why should he have a secret or confidential treaty with any foreign power? Does he want to disgrace the democratic party?

Watch the Census!

The Huntsville, Ala., Daily Mercury, enting on the statement of the New York Tribune that the south had grown less rapidly in the last decade than the rest of the country, says:

This assertion is so glaringly at varience with the ruth it behooves the press and people of the south to look out for frauds being perpetrated in the taking of the next census. Some of our southern exchanges, among them The ATLANTA CONSTITU-TION and New Orleans Times-Democrat, are ca attention to the matter, and no wonder, for the Tribune article reads very much like a bid for a manipulated census report of the southern states.

The taking of the next census will bear the very closest watching by the democrats, and the democratic minority in the next congress should exercise due vigilance to nsure an honest enumeration.

It is true that the republicans will have control of both branches of congress, with a republican as chief executive, but this will not prevent the democrats, if they are as watchful as the occasion demands, from checking them, at least to a great extent, in whatever effort they might make to use the census as the exclusive property of the republican party. Of course republican officials will be put in charge of the census and republican enumerators will be chosen to make up the records on which representation will be based for the next ten years. But we cannot help this. Had the democrats won, the taking of the census would have been under their control. We lost, and we must make the best we can of the

Let us hope that President Harrison prompted by a sense of fairness and a desire to allow nothing to happen during his term of service to reflect on the honor and integrity of his administration, will take such broad grounds in outlining his policy that he will shame the party from resorting to the trickery and fraud which has characterized the taking of other censuses. Give us an honest census.

THE American government is such a big, good-natured affair that it permits itself to be kicked around with impunity by Germany. If Germany were no larger than Hayti our government would resent all insults with a rapidity peculiarly its own.

Kick Her Down! Poor little Emma Abbott is in trouble

A widow, childless, and still suffering from her recent bereavement, it was natural that she should go to church in Memphis last Sunday. She was in the city to fill an engagement. She did not wish to stay away from divine service, and so she went to Dr. Burford's chnrch.

It so happened that one of her tenors sang in the choir that morning, by invitation of the director. He sang an anthem, and Dr. Burford, at its conclusion, said he "desired to thank the stranger for his anthem, and hoped every member of the congregation appreciated it."

The Appeal the next morning headed its account of the incident: "Not a Purblind Bigot-Miss Abbott Meets a Minister Who Does Not Boycott Actors." This heading was unfortunate. It stirred up a number of ministers, and at a meeting they decided that the publication was an uncalled for criticism of Mr. Candler, who once in Nashville denounced Miss Abbott from the pulpit. Dr. Burford wrote a letter stating that when he thanked the singer he did not know that he was the member of an opera troupe, and did not know that Emma Abbott was in the house. Several ministers, in their interviews with the reporters, deounced the stage in unqualified terms. The Rev. Warner Moore said:

The Rey. Warner Moore said:

"The stage will never be reformed till the millennium, and I don't think Christian people ought to countenance it. Regarding Miss Abbott, I know nothing except what I have read in the papers, and a few incidents which have come under my special observation. I have inferred from these incidents observation. I have intered from these incidents that she is attempting to use the church as a medium of advertisement. If you remember, she said in an interview with a reporter here last year that she knew Spurgeon, the great London preacher, well, and had sung in his choir. Mr. Candler, of Nashville, cabled Dr. Spurgeon, and he denied knowing the woman, and said he had no choir. Last Sunday she caused it to be stated that she went forward and shook hands with Dr. Burford, He lenies this. In a paper a few days ago was a lette of condolence to her with the name of Dr. Talmage signed. I have no doubt but in this, like in the other cited instances, she took a liberty unwarranted by the person concerned." In reply to Mr. Moore, the Avalanche called attention to the fact that Spurgeon knew Miss Abbott as Mrs. Eugene Wetherett, and had presented her with a volume of his sermons, writing her name in it with his own hand. As to the letter from Dr. Talmage, it had appeared in the New York World, a paper not likely to be imposed

Of course the Memphis paper was alto-gether in the wrong when it intimated that Mr. Candler was a "purblind bigot," but Emma Abbott was not responsible for that. The poor woman's offense seems to be that she uses her wonderful gift of song on the lyric stage, and insists in believing that because she is a pure woman she has a right o go to church.

This is just what the Memphis affair mounts to when it is boiled down. If Emma Abbott had remained away from church like a heathen last Sunday she would not have been in this trouble.

It is a queer case. Nobody knows anything against the great singer's character. The rash attempt made by a Memphis minister to prove her guilty of fraud, lying and forgery, seems to have been a failure. But she will sing on the stage, and she will go to church. Now, what is to be done about it? Why, simply this-abuse her, slander her; in a word, kick her down!

The Memphis preachers engaged in this crusade have not diminished Miss Abbott's audiences, but they can hurt her feelings and make her uncomfortable. If they keep on intimating that she cannot be a good woman they will perhaps make somebody believe it, and that will be a great triumph.

The woman must be put down because she sings on the operatic stage, and thinks system, or any part of it, "the question will she sings on the operatic stage, and thinks be much less complicated." If this sort of stuff is intended to mean anything, it must mean that the repeal of the internal revenue mean that the repeal of the internal revenue forced to ke her star with the vicious with men over 25 years of age the intemperate use of alcuholic beverages cuts off the years from life. Also that occasional indulgence, it carried to excess, doubles diseases of the liver, quadruples diseases of the kidneys, and greatly increases deaths from pneumonia, pleurs; and epileps.

classes. Kick her down-kick her down! Perhaps the ministers will win in this ght-perhaps a few years from now the woman will break down under their attacks, and grief and pain will make her a shattered wreck. Her lustrous hair will turn white, the light will go out of her eyes, and with a sad and heavy heart she will hide herself from the stalwart pulpiteers who are relentlessly hunting her down. In some asylum, or an untimely grave, she may find peace and rest: but she shall have none elsewhere, for the decree has gone forthkick her down!

Public Executions in Georgia. Let us hope that yesterday saw the last an hanged in public in this state. It was a demoralizing day in Marietta. Guards were required to keep the crowd back while the hanging took place. While the poor wretch was quivering in the air men rushed inside of the ropes to get relics of the occasion. Hardly was he proounced dead before a spectator was cutting off his finger nails to keep as mementoes. Pieces of the rope were cut and chips from the scaffold. As the wretch dropped from the trap one man fainted and fell from his horse. Two other men fainted in the crowd. Nine cars carried young men and boys from this city to witness the hanging, and for miles around Marietta the people had come in by the hundreds in carts and wagons to see the sight.

There is no wisdom in this-there is no manity-there is no sense. A public execution is a relic of barbarism, and Georgia is walking in barbarons ways as long as she permits it.

How the Preachers Sat Down Upon Editor Shepard.

NEW YORK, January 25 .- Colonel Elliott F. Shepard, editor and proprietor of the Mail and Express, addrsssed 200 Methodist ministers on the Sunday question yesterday afternoon. He spoke for an hour and a quarter against Sunday concerts, Sunday newspapers, Sunday stages and Sunday exhibitions. He told how hard he had worked all along to sup-press Sunday desecration in New York, At the conclusion of Editor Shepard's remarks, which were with much dignity and great impressiveness. He said he was a subscriber to the Mail and Express, and was accustomed to read the paper every evening with great avidity and much interest.

"But," said the Rev. Dr. Taylor, laying great emphasis on the word. Every minister thereupon straightened himself up and graned his neck to catch what was coming. "But," repeated the rev-erend gentleman, "there is one question that I want to ask Editor Shepard, and that is why he devotes every evening a column to horse racing in his no

This was a stunner. The ministers applanded most heartily, and shouts of "Good!" and "Hear!" and similar expressions were heard in every part of the room.

The confusion lasted several minutes. Colone Shepard was the picture of despair. After a dead pause of two minutes more Colonel Shepard got up and replied that he published a sporting column in the interest of christianity. By publishing sporting news he thought be could induce sporting men to buy his paper and read the sermons and moral editorials which appeared in other columns.

A BASE BALL MOVE.

Charleston Comes to the Front with a Scheme for a League.
Octavus Cohen, managing editor of the Charleston World, is a great man for base bal and is just now trying to arrange a southern ague. Mr. Cohen's scheme is a feasible one, In fact it sabout the only plan upon which a southern league can be maintained, and is the same that The Constitution has been advocating all along—this, however, is not said to detract anything from Mr. Cohen's good work.

Mr. Cohen thinks a league could be formed with Charleston. Savannah, Columbus, Macou, Atlanta, Mobile, Augusta and Birmingham with a $1.00 salary timit.

Atlanta, Mobile, Angusta and Birmingham with a $1,00 salary finit.

Mr. Cohen is mighty near right in the make up of the league. If he would substitute Chattanooga or Knoxville for Mobile he will have it.

New Orleans is too far away, and so is Mobile.

The same may be said of Memphis and Nashville. The same may be said of Memphis and Nashville. The cities named by The Constitution make the right circuit, and with careful management the league could be made a success.

Mr. Cohen last night telegraphed all the cities he mentioned, and it is known that Columbus favors it. Here is a telegram from that city.

SHORT OF MONEY. The Sultan of Zanzibar in Straightened Cir

London, January 25 .- Grave pecuniary embarrassment is reported to be impending for the sultan of Zanzibar. Facts have leaked out which indicate that his treatment at the hands of the German East African company is absolutely unparalleled. Since the beginning its operation, it is stated that the suitan's direct cash loss has been over 450,000 rupees, and his constructive loss ten times that amount.

The company exacted payment of every penny to which it would be entitled if in a penny to which it would be entitled if in a prosperous, working order. In addition to the value of the losses it sustained at Kilwa and elsewhere, the sultan is compelled to pay monthly nearly 150,000 rupes to keep the company for the cost of theoretical administration, which has been practically abandoned since September, and the company has made no repayments to any officials or soldiers on the cost except at one place.

The company has thus driven a vast body of malcontents into the insurgent ranks, holding the sultan and company alike as responsible for their destitution, and it has entirely destroyed the sultan's power. It is rumored that the unitan has representedly remountrated stroyed the sultan power. It is radioted that the sultan has repeatedly remonstrated with the German consul on the Germans' want of success. In an open durbar recently the sultan stated that he had received only 5,000 instead of the customary 8,000 rupees in December for reversional of the customary 1,000 rupees in the customary 1,000 onue on the German litteral. -Foreign Opinion on the Question.

WASHINGTON, January 25 .- Representative Morrow, of California, who is chairman of the sub-committee of the house committee on for eign affairs, intends to call the sub committee together and get to work at the earliest oppor nity. He says that his views on Samoan affairs are positive and have been made known through the resolution introduced by him in the house man The status quo at the time representatives of the United States, Germany and England met, he says, must be restored, and this would necessitate the replacement of King Maleaton in the position from which he was so unjustly removed by German agents and sent to Mar-shall islands. This step, Mr. Morrow insisted, must be preliminary to any further negotiations on the subject.

Mr. Herbert, chairman of the naval committee of the flouse, and has not yet received a response to his letter to Secretary Whitney inviting suggestions as to any amendments that may, in his judgment, be necessary to meet any emergency that may arise as the result of Samoan affairs. It is apparent that members of the committee are entirely willing to comply with any reasonable request of the navy department in this respect. The committee, in its report on the naval appropriation bill noted with satisfaction, that the contract for gun for naval appropriation bill noted with satisfaction, that the contract for gun for supplying forgings and armories for the navy, expect to begin the deliveries of material in March next, although they are not required to do so by terms of their contract before February, 1890, and there is some talk of stimulating them to greater efforts by making an appropriation for a bonus to be paid for early deliveries of material.

The German View. The German View.

Berlin, January 25.—The National Zeitung, referring to the action of the senatorial committee at Washington on the Samoa affair, says that measures for the protoction of the autonomy of the Samoan islands are superfluous because it is not threatened by any one. The sole interest of America consists in your allowing the good relations with German Samoan not allowing the good relations with Germany to be jeopardized by a few intriguing lventurers.

The Vossische Zeitung, criticising the argument in the Cologne Gazette of yesterday, holds that it would be a mistake ta attach no holds that it would be a mistake ta attach no importance to the measures taken by President Cleveland merely because he is to be shortly succeeded by Harrison. It points out that the authority for dealing with foreign affairs rests with a committee of the senate, and warns the semi-official press that it would be unwise to try to appease the German public with "fallacious illusious." Dublin, January 25.—Several of the persons who were arrested at Carrick-on-Surr yesterday during the disturbances at the time of the arraignment of Mr. William O'Brien were conveyed to Clonmel last night. A large crowd had gathered about the railway station at Clonmel, and upon the arrival of the police and their prisoners a mob prevented the police from passing, and demanded the release of the prisoners. The crowd stoned the police, and the latter threatened to fire upon them. A priest interfered and prevented bloodshed. After two hours had passed the police received reinforcements, and succeeded in lodging their prisoners in jail.

Murder of Missionarles in Africa, ZANZIBAR, January 25.—An English mis-ionary named Brooks and sixteen of his folowers were murdered Saturday near Saadani by members of the coast tribes and natives of Zanzibar. These murders indicate the extent of hatred to the whites the Germans have aroused. Saadani for many years has been the starting point of European missions, natives welcoming missions. elcoming missionaries and assisting all of hem, especially the English. The murd caused a sensation. The question as to what measures England will take to punish the murderers is eagerly discussed here.

It may not be generally known that there is "Society of Friends" in the city, but there is, and in Thursday evening they entertained a few of heir geutlemen acquaintances at a sociable and uper at the residence of Mrs. Hardwick, on Glenn street. The Friends consist of one entire family, namely: Misses Jerusia, Bonesia, Dionesia, Lettela, Benesia, Juckbinder and Jefflinsay Sim, Their quaint Quaker costumes captured the eyes of the young gentlemen, and for one full hour they were kept trying to guess who was behind the masks, that they knew. During this guessing period each gentleman was requested to choose a 12 ther and accompany her to supper. At this meal, which was a unptuous repast, consisting of light-bread, salt, pepper and clear, cool well water, with some toothpicks for desert, the young ladies unmasked, and there was some surprised faces when the gentlemen beheld their pariners. After supper games were indulged in, until the "spirit" moved the "family" to pass around fruit. Then more games until midnight, when the party separated, all declaring it to be a most enjoyable affair. The ladies were Misses Clio Camp, of Jonesboro; Cecilia and Mary Hardwick, Kaie Sprenger, Gertrude Merchant, Sib Martin and Minnte Gathright. The gentlemen were Messrs. Pat O'Counor, Tap Merchant, W. L. Hubbard, Jr., Walter J. Sprenger, Tom and John Hardwick, John Gay and A. V. Baisden.

In spite of the inclement weather, the beautiful chapel of the Church of the Redeemer, was filled to its utmost. Many of the Scotch residents of the city were present to pay their tribute to their ever beloved bard, and faces became all aglow under the inspiration of the beautiful familiar lines as they were recited or sung.

After a very bountiful lunch, furnished by the ladies of the church to which the entire assembly was invited, Doctor Sherrill delivered a very entertaining sketch of the life of Robert Burns, which was followed by a programme made up of readings and songs, good throughout. Major C. W. Hubner read Halleck's famous tribute to Burns. Doctor Barnett spoke feelingly on the character and genius of Burns.

Severe Shocks of Earthquake and Fecunar Sensations.

Denver, Col., January 25.—Information just received from Routt, Colorado, states that that portion of the state has been treated to a genuine earthquake. The shocks commenced on the afternoon of the 16th instant, At 4 o'clock there were violent ones which rocked small buildings and detached large masses of rocks from the mountain and greatly frightened the people and animals. The cattle were especially terrorized and ran frantically back and forth, Thunder preceded the shocks, but there was no rain. A peculiar phenomenon was observed at Hot Springs, below the government bridge. The shock was productive of great gushes of water and gas. Fully three times as much water and gas was thrown out and accompanying it was a most sulphurous steuch that made the people sick and caused birds to drop to the ground. When the convulsions ceased the water receded and there was a sound like the rushing of a great river. The course of the shocks was from the south northward.

Chicago, January 25.—A dispatch from Wichita, Kansas, says: General Murray Myers has been ordered by the government to Gray county, the scene of the recent county seat war. A telegram from Lieutenant Thorp, in charge of the military there, says the people of the two conflicting towns, (Ingalls and Cimarron) are daily in receipt of arms and ammunition, and that the day upon which he reported six boxes of Winchesters had been received from Kansas City. No one is allowed to enter or leave either of the towns without giving an account of himself.

Tizza, Hungarian prime minister, for lack of candor toward the emperor, who, he said, would have consented to modify the provisions of the army bill had he known the true public opinion in Hungary. The count exclaimed: "The premier's loyalty is a sham. He is a coward at Vienna and a tyraut at home." During Count Karolyi's speech the members of the opposition yelled, and the president was unable to restore order.

When I first wrote the communications I dated them Nibbintown, and came near having several fights about t. But the people finally got used to it. Now that country is settled and you don't see a farmer running four piows who has not a nice painted house. I painted the first house in the county and now they are all painted. EDISON, Ga., January 19, 1889.—EDITORS CONSTITUTION—Dear Sirs: A friend of mine has just sent me an article which claims to have been an interview with me by one of your reporters, and the same does me a great injustice by making me out a liar in several instances, a name that I have never view with me by one of your reporters, and the same does me a great injustice by making me out a liar in several instances, a name that I have never borne, and you will please do me the kindness to correct the same. I know this is a late day to call for such a thing, but it was published in your Sunday's paper and the same day of publication I, in company with several other members, went up to Chattanooga, hence I did not see it nor hear of it until some time after I came home, and have just been able to run up with it. As to the article. It says I live at a place called Nubbintown. I said my section of the county was called by that name, an old buriesque name given it before the war and before the introduction of fertilizers. It says the name arose from some newspaper articles written by me some years ago. I stated that when I came to the county, sixteen years ago, that there was not one man in twenty in my section of the county that did take a paper, nor was there a camity paper published near me except, the Cuthbert Appeal, until a cousin of mine started one at Ft. Gaines, and for his benefit, I wrote for him in order to build up a circulation for his paper over my way, and that I headed my articles Nubbintown, and that several got mad with me for it, as our section had come out so much, and I further said that I was asked through the papers for several explanations as to when and how and I further said that I was asked through the papers for several explanations as to when and how and I further said that I was asked through the papers for several explanations as to when and how and I further said that I was asked through the papers for several explanations as to when and how and I further said that I went as a mane, also that now, instead of one in twenty taking a paper, that the rule was about reversed. I did not say any such thing as being (as you make me say) the first man in the county that painted a house, because to have said sow would have been unirue. I said I thought our farmers were prospering fro

CLARA MORRIS AT DEGIVE'S.

Beyond the range of caim, cool criticism is the acting of Clara Morris. There are actresses and actresses, and very many of them are exquisite in their art; then there is Clara Morris—she is What is it about her art-for art it must be-tha captures you, soul and body, so effectually? Magnetism, you say? But other actors and other actresses possess magnetism, yet in the presence of none do we depart from ourselves, lose our identity, as it were, as we do in the presence of the little woman who was at DeGive's last night. Magnetism it may be; if it is, magnetism is but another word for humanity. So horoughly does she enter into the hopes and the loys, the trials and the sufferings of the character she portrays that character, surroundings, everything is orgotien as our hearts go out to her If it is art, it is the perfection of art.

for it is art, it is the perfection of art.

Clara Morris presented, for the first time in Atlanta, D'Ennery's "Renee de Moray."

The play is an exceedingly strong one, full of pathetic scenes and dramatic situations, but lacking—und herein lies one of its charms—those herrible—und herein lies one of its charms—those herrible deciments which will be remembered in "Article the and the some of the plays with which clara Morris and enter of the plays with which clara Morris and the sea of fame are associated. Such scenes and suram plays naturally enough have a bad tastes in the mouths of those who are carried away by the strength of the who are carried away by the strength of the complications.

There is a gray-hair of, enter we have all the pathes and the strength of the others, but without the bad taste. The plot is full complications.

There is a gray-hair of, enterly years, she had a lover, and a chita—a strength of the mother by long years of honorable wifehood, the mother by years, she had a lover, and a chita—a strength of the mother by the years, she had a lover, and a chita—one of his mother's, to exact money from her. He meets Rence instead. She, too, is a wife on Adwind the form of his mother's, to exact money from her. He meets Rence instead. She, too, is a wife on Adventures, Duchessed is Sun Luca, loves him and seeks to ensarar him. Her brother aids her. With the terrible conviction of bother aids her. With the terrible conviction of a brother aids her. With the terrible conviction of a brother aids her. With the terrible conviction of a brother aids her. With the terrible conviction of a save the good name of her mother. Then, the natural son meets him mead. It is pitiful to see Rence's horror lest he proclaim himself. He starts tog away, a great realistic of feeling upon him, joving his mother, relusion to company.

At the matinee today, "Renee de Moray," will be again presented with Miss Morris in the title role. The attraction is Clara Morris, the greatest emotional actress this country has produced, and she is indeed worth scaling. He, She, Him and Her. If one wants to laugh, he has only to go and

WON THE WAGER AND DIED.

A Young New Yorker Drinks Two Bottles of Champagne for a Bet.

New York Star.

Last Saturday night a party of young men were drinking heavily in a saloon in New York. Max Schillak, who had imbibed a large quantity of beer, offered to bet anyone that he could drink two bottles of champagne without stopping. The wager was quickly taken up. The wine was ordered, and the young fellow set out on his race to death. He drank the first bottle with difficulty, amid the plaudits of the drunken crowd. Then he started to drink the second. It was slow work, but he managed to finish the bottle even to the last dregs. Then he reached for the $5 he had won. Having obtained it he sank exhausted to the floor.

The doctor was called in and the stomach pump was used, but had no effect. All the known remedies were administered, but the man never regained consciousness, and died after the the doctor had worked on him for nearly two hours. Dpring the time the physician was there the now thoroughly sober crowd gazed speechlessly at their dying comrade, Some of them offered the physician $1,000 to save him. Schillak absorbed the champagne so rapidly that the carbonic acid which it contained poisoned his blood. New York Star.

NEW YORK, Janu-y 25.—The stock market was dull today, while the movements in prices were confined to even narrower range than usual. The covering movement of last evening extended over into this morning and gave the market a firm appearance in connection with the limited purchases for foreign account. The news of the day was of a favorable character generally, and the statement of Lackawanna was considered excellent, but nothing of that sort had the power to move the market out of that sort had the power to move the market out of its rut, and dullness and stagnation continued to be the leading features throughout the day. The bears hammered some of the active shares, including Reading, Lackawanne, St. Paul, Union Pacific, Richmond and West Point and Texas Pacific. In none except the last two was there any impression made, and that was almost entirely neutralized before the close, when covering was omin in order Lake Shore was prominent and displayed a strong front, as did also New England, but the only marked strength was in Pullman and some of the specialties. Pullman reacted 3 per sent from its depression of yesterday, closing at its highest figures. The market closed dull but firm at fractional advances in most cases over the open-ing figures. The total number of shares sold was ing figures. The total number of shares sold was 152,00. Puliman rose 3 per cent and Peorla, Decatur and Evansville 134, but changes in the rest of the list were confined to fractions only.

NEW YORK, January 25—The following of the receipts of cotton at all United Since September 1, 1888:

NEW YORK, January 25.-[Special.]-Henry

Clews & Co.'s circular on the cotton market says: The market during the week has been marked by periods of great weakness, the main causes being the heavy receipts and an effort to increase crop estimates. It was expected that the movement to the ports would be large, but it was considerably arger than anticipated, and for the time it caused some demoralization in the bull ranks, and led to some demoralization in the bull ranks, and led to free covering of long cotton. The situation was made more aggravating by the great number of stop orders hanging over the market, and the bears, having this in view, were exceedingly vigorous in their assaults and hammered prices to a point that brought out a great deal of cotton. While the re-ceipts are very large, we do not as yetsee any reason to change our previous estimate of the crop. Ad-mitting, bowever, that the out turn will be in excess of our expectations, we think that all the cotton of our expectations, we think that all the cotton that has been made will be needed, and we can see no reason to change our views of the market. The receipts at the ports will soon fall off, and when they do, we believe in a healthy rise in prices. In the meantime we can see nothing in the attuation to warrant a further break, and advise judicious rfolk.

CHICAGO, January 25-Wheat was quitelactive today, the opening sales were made at the closing figures of yesterday, but prices declined quickly 1%c, then rallied irregularly 2\%c, and closed about %c higher than yesterday. The early decline was due to the rush to realize, but when operators undertook to buy there was not much wheat found on sale, and a reaction followed.

Corn was steady and dull, closing ½c lower than yesterday.

Oats were quiet and closed with small improvement in values.

Pork was active today. The opening sales were at a decline of 7½c, which was foll owed by a fall of 30@32½c. The market fluctuated then within 12½c015c range, and closed at about medium figures.

Lard opened 2½c05c lower, and declined 7½c010c additional. Later the market railied 5c7½c, and closed quiet.

The Railroad Feature of the Past Few Days is the Big Deal by Which the Pullman Palace Car Company Obtains Control of All the Palace Car Companies in the Country, With the Single Exception of the Wagner.—The Georgia Railroad Commission at Work.-Captain Reneau Resigns From the Central.

The Pullman Palace Car company has acquired control of all the parlor car companies doing business in this country, with the one exception of the Wagner company, whose operations are confined to the Vanderbilt lines.

Negotiations looking to the consummation of this big deal have been in prospect for a long time, but a multitude of obstacles intervened, till last Tuesday, when at a meeting held in

Wall street it was completed. By this acquisition the Pullman company gains for its service of drawing room coaches and sleeping cars a complete monopoly of the south, where hitherto its grip has been slightest. Every railroad in the south using palace cars at all will now have Pullmans. Among the great lines that will benefit in this way are the Richmond Terminal sys-tem, the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, the Richmond and Danville, the Georgia Central, the Virginia Midland, and the Cincinnati Southern. Progress toward the end now reached by the Pullman company was made in 1887, when the acquisition of the Parlor Car company of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad created a sensa-

It is not to the south by any means, however, that this transaction is confined. Other leading railways beside the southern systems are brought by it into the Pullman camp. Two of these are the Philadelphia and Reading and the Central railroad of New Jersey.

The Wall street meeting at which this big contract was entered into was attended by many well known railway magnates, including John G. Moore, George S. Scott, President John H. Inman of the Richmond Terminal, Henry Maxwell, Edward Lauterbach, President Samuel Thomas of the East Tenne Virginia and Georgia, and President Schiff of the Cincinnati Southern. President George M. Pullman, Vice-President Horace Porter, and General Manager Reynolds represented the Pullman company. There was little time wasted in dickering. Affairs had been much too thoroughly canvassed in advance for that, and all parties to the bargain were too well persuaded of the merits of the project. President Pullman stated the terms he was willing to make, and the contract was forthwith concluded whereby the lately organized Union Palace Car company, including the Mann Bou-doir company and the Woodruff Parlor Car company, were bought. President Pullman agreed that the total amount of money involved in the deal should be paid in Wall street to-

Anticipation of this big transaction has been stirring operators on the stock exchange for some time. The stock has advanced about fifty points without a break, and is now above 190. It is said that in 1884, while everybody elsa was demoralized and the Wall street gossips were reporting him as in financial difficulties, Mr. Pullman bought over 10,000 shares of his company's stock around 90, which stock, showing a profit now of much more than

HEAVILY FINED.

He Pointed a Pistol at a Young Lady and Got Two Hundred.

The case of John W. Kent, a merchant, who pointed a pistol at Miss Emma Boyd, occupied the time of the city court yesterday.

Mrs. Boyd, the mother of the young lady, owed Mr. Kent a small bill, and he went to her house several times to collect it.

Unfortunately for him, the last time he went loaded with lead and liquor.

He went into the sitting room and demanded the amount of the bill of Mrs. Boyd. During the conversation he used some language that was of an insulting nature, and tried to get Mrs. Boyd to take a drink with him. Miss Emma, who is thirteen years of age, was in an adjoining room and heard the remark.

She ran into the room and picking up a glass, threw it at the intruder, whereupon he drew his pistol, and pointing it at her, threatened to shoot.

There are many other cases of a lighter na-ture where "no arrest" is returned on the warrant.

No suits were plead yesterday except one common lawsuit which is the longest case submitted to be filed this year. It was a tough one for the clerks.

Mr. George Ward, of Sunnyside, an account of whose business troubles appeared in The Constitution a few days ago, is all right again. Mr. J. B. Stewart, who represented a portion of the Atlanta creditors interested in the joint mortgage, which was foreclosed, was seen yesterday and he said that the affair had been satisfactorily arranged and Mr. Ward's store was open and he was going ahead with his business. Mr. W. R. Boyd, of Lester's Agricultural and Chemical works, Newark and Baltimore, went down and made a personal investigation and found Mr. Ward working like a tiger to meet his engagements.

FANCY BUTTER.

Where to Get it at Popular Prices—Phila-delphia Prints. We owe an apology to Atlantians for the miserable butter we recommended last week branded O. F. The gentlemen who shipped it wrote that it was an error, and we think it was, too; so we tender this apology and are willing to rectify any injustice done. We are happy to announce that we now have the agency of that celebrated Robin Jones Jersey creamery, which we will sell at the same old price, 35 cents per pound. We will have regular daily shipment of 200 pounds, and guaran-tee our customers that quality will at all times be kept uniform and up to the standard. We want acts uniform and up to the standard. We want customers who have been using this 35-cent Jersey butter to call at our store and leave us their address. We will gladly furnish them at the same old price, and deliver to any part of the city within limit. In addition to this we have Dr. Alexander's celebrated Jersey butter fresh tri-weekly, of uniform color and excellence of quality. We also have Mrs. Lips-comb's fruit of the farm, the acme of perfection in butter making; come and see it. We might con-scientiously indulge in hyperbole in discussing the respective merits of different butter and butter makers, but of all the butter we receive, natural in color, beauty in appearance, low in price, and best of all, we must say that the butter we receive from the Alabama Agricultural and Mechanical College is the finest we ever saw. If you desire something especially fine, beyond comparison, unexcelled in this Southern country, that would bring $1 per pound if sold in Philadelphia or New York as Philadelphia prints, come over and see the Agricultural and Mechanical College butter. There is nothing like, it, no matter how much you pay for it. In it you see the science of the art, art learned by studious application, all the defects dispersed, put to rout, and result—one grand success. We have four contracts now, and positively guarantee all the butter we sell. Robin Jones butter customers solicited 1,000 pounds weekly. Agricultural and Mechanical College butter customers solicited. Our chief aim is to please. and remember we positively guarantee each and every pound. Ladies invited this week to inspect our butter department. Look for our No. 90.

THE McCORD JURY OUT. ARGUMENT ENDED IN THE GREAT

PERJURY CASE. WHAT WILL THE VERDICT BE?

After Hearing a Few Witnesses for the Defense the Case is Ably Argued by Counsel and Goes to the Jury. -The Court Taking a Recess Till This ng .- The Reason Why Witness Hedin Did Not Testuly in the Trial of His Fellow, Witness

Yesterday morning by nine o'clock the big aditorium of the Fulton county court room was crowded. McCord was there, bright and hopeful, and General Gartrell and Mr. Ladson were there with him. The wife and sister of the prisoner were The jurors looked as if they had all enjoyed their breakfasts after a good night's rest. Solicitor Hill was on hand, and so was Bailiff Monaghan.

Half an hour was consumed in the usual preparatory skirmishing, and then the wheels began to turn.

THE DEFENSE BEGUN.

The state had rested,
It was now the time for the defense, and John B. Langley, a veteran with an empty sleeve, took the stand for the defendant. Mr. Longley testified that on the day of the killing he met McCord near the Capitol City bank. They walked around together, McCord bought a box from Beck & Gregg, and return-ing across the railroad on Pryor street, Lang-ley bought a paper and was reading about the While there McCord related that he had witnessed the right. McCord said that he did witnessed the fight. McCord said that he did not wish to be a witness in the case, and Lang-ley replied that if so he had better keep his mouth shut.

Three weeks afterward Langley told John Hilderbrand what McCord had said to him, after Hilderbrand had come to him making in-quiries about who witness was talking to that day.

Afterward he saw Hilderbrand, Heffin and Afterward he saw Hilderbrand, Hefiin and McCord together at the National hotel, but he did not hear them talking of the case.

On cross examination Langley acknowledged that Hilderbrand had given him a straw hat worth sixty cents. Witness had known Eddleman, and went to the station house on the evening of the killing to pay the first installment on some property purchased of Eddleman. He also knew Gresham, and thought a great deal of him.

man. He also knew Gresham, and thought a great deal of him.

THE MOTHER RULED OUT.

Mrs. M. E. McCord, the mother of the prisoner, was put upon the stand. She stated that she lived at McAdamville, S. C., one and a half miles from Lowell. She had come here after her son got into trouble. She had not seen her son in over a year previous to that. When asked about a letter her son had written her, and which was lost, the state objected and her testimony was ruled out.

M'CORD'S STATEMENT.

The prisoner was then put upon the stand and made his statement. He had been in Hollis's bar taking a drink, and as he walked out into the aliey he heard some one say: "Look at that man cutting at another?" said he. I saw Gresham, whom'I did not then know, advancing on Eddleman, and I am just as positive now as I was then that Gresham had a knife in his hand. Afterwards I wrote to my mother about a one-legged man killing a one-armed man. I didn't go into details about it. I talked to Langley about the motter, as he stated, but to no one else then. Hilderbrand came to me representing himself as a witness in the case. As for Owens's statement, it was entirely false."

The prisoner then went on to say that he had left on the advice of friends, because he come back after everything had quieted down.

Airs. S. J. Hill, and afterward her husband, were examined as to the mob, and both had heard shooting around their house and McCord's about the time McCord left.

Judge Dorsey testified that he had considered Hildebrand as employed to get up testimony in the case, and he had never heard of money being given to the men. He also testified to having sent for Dr. Woolley to visit Eddleman at the stationhouse.

Colonel Hulsey testified to similar facts.
Captain W. P. Manley detailed the circumstances of McCord's capture and return to Atlanta, and testified that McCord had said that he had a pistol and intended at first to resist capture, but changed his mind and gave up.

Dr. B. M. Wooliey swore that he did not infer from Judge Dorsey's sending for him to visit Eddleman at the stationhouse that the latter wished him to do anything wrong, when he asked the doctor, "Are you a friend to Eddle-

The minute hand had moved around a little before the argument began.

On the proposition of General Gartrell the defense agreed to limit the speeches to one hour and a half each for themselves, Solicitor Hill requiring only two hours for the prosecution, his opening being short and concise.

General Gartrell's appeal to the jury in defense of his client was a very powerful of the proposition of the concise.

speech, which was highly complimented by those who heard it.

At 7 o'clock the court re-convened after an hour's recess, and the house was even more crowded than during the day sessions. Many leading atterneys and business men were there to hear it solicitor's final argument.

This amounted to a general summary of the whole matter, and a strong arraignment of the accused. It ceased as the clock struck 9, and then the crowd began leaving the room.

Judge Marshall J. Clarke, in his charge, covered every point in the case, and the jury retired at 9:20, to the Wilson house, the court taking a recess till 9 a. m. today,

SPECIAL FOINTS.

The witness, Heffin—although he is said to have testified before the grand jury that McCord was not in the alley—could not be used. It was a peculiar situation. He, too, was under indictment for perjury, and persisted that he (Heffin) was not guilty, but was in the alley and McCord was not. Had he turned state's evidence and acknowledged his own guilt, he might have become a competent witness, but, under the peculiar circumstances of the case, he was not.

The verdict of the jury will be a conviction of a mistrial.

The verdict of the jury will be a conviction na mistrial.

Consumption, Wasting Diseases, And General Debility. Doctors disagree as to the relative value of Cod Liver Oll and Hypophosphites: the one supplying strength and flesh, the other giving nerve paver, and acting as a tonic to the digestive and entire system. But in Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites the two are combined, and the effect is wonderful. Thousands who have derived no permanent benefit from other preparations have been cured by this. Scott's Emulsion is perfectly palatable and is easily digested by those who cannot tolerate plain Cod Liver Oil.
